TASTING COMMENTS:

With its crystalline, beautifully deep golden yellow colour, on the nose this wine initially offers up maturation notes of vanilla, toast and bread crust before quickly opening out into intense scents of passion fruit and fresh mango, then becomes smoother with hints of confectionery, pear barley sugar, and a delicately spicy touch of white pepper.

It is full and soft with lots of delicious flavour on the palate, a beautiful range of aromas, a saline touch, and lovely acidic tension balanced out perfectly by the warm finish.

Everything about this wine recalls the beautiful summer of 2019, which allowed the estate's grapes to ripen perfectly despite the early heatwave in June. It is enjoyable drunk young for its powerful aromas, but a little ageing will allow it to blossom beautifully and mellow wonderfully.
